DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the information disclosure statement filed 04/20/2006.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-13 in the reply filed on 03/10/2010 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that all the groups share a common technical feature. This is not found persuasive because the groups still differ in features not shared by all the compositions and methods.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422

F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-13 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 180-187, 190-191 of U.S. Patent No. (not assigned as of yet and will be referred to as US'00). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because US'00 claims a porous silicon impregnated with a beneficial substance (See claim 180). The depth of the beneficial substance is between .035 and 1000 μm (see claim 186). Further, the concentration of beneficial substance is between 1 and 90%. The material silicon is mesoporous (see claim 181), with a porosity of between 2% and 80%. Claim 191 incorporates a platinum compound. As such, those of ordinary skill would have expected similar therapeutic results from the use of the claimed composite given the claims of US'00. The instant claims would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention given the claims of US'00.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 181-186, 187, 190-191 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US'00 (cited above_

The applied reference has a common inventors with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

US'00 claims a mesoporous silicon with a beneficial substance embedded in it (see claim 186). The depth of the beneficial agent and amounts are clearly anticipated by these claims. The claims are clearly anticipated by US'00.

US Patent 6,666,214 is cited of interest as a meoporous silicon implant. No teaching is included of the depth of the bioactive in the porous structure or the percent bioactive in the composition.

WO 97/06101 is also cited of interest, but contains no teaching of the percent of bioactive contained in the composite structure.

Conclusion

No claims allowed.
